

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

More Inclusive Healthcare CEO Lisa Sloane Appointed Adjunct Professor at The Ohio State University

CINCINNATI, OH, December 22, 2020—Health equity champion Lisa Sloane, Founder and CEO of More Inclusive Healthcare, has been appointed Adjunct Assistant Professor at The Ohio State University's (OSU) College of Public Health. As an alumni of OSU's Master of Health Administration (MHA) program, Sloane has chaired the Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Committee (DEIC) for OSU's Health Services Management and Policy (HSMP) Alumni Society since 2016. In this role she has overseen efforts to boost engagement of underrepresented students and alumni by helping identify opportunities for improvement.

As Adjunct Assistant Professor, Sloane will advise the Master of Healthcare Administration Program on the integration of health equity content in program curriculums and will be a guest lecturer for multiple classes. Sloane is a recognized expert on health disparities resolution through the collection and use of demographic data and has 20 plus years of experience working in the field of health equity. In 2014 she established her small business, More Inclusive Healthcare, where she coaches and inspires her team and partner clients to develop breakthrough training and resources that help hospital system leaders and providers eliminate health disparities.

About More Inclusive Healthcare (MIH)

More Inclusive Healthcare (MIH) helps healthcare organizations provide more culturally responsive care and reduce harm and risk. MIH does it through training, coaching, and consulting on the practice and science of data collection and usage. Headquartered in Cincinnati, OH, More Inclusive Healthcare's work aids more than 400 hospitals across the United States and Canada.

###

More Inclusive Healthcare is a Black-owned, woman-owned business.

For more information call 855-645-6456 or email info@moreinclusivehealthcare.com